SEMINAR SPEAKER

Charles Hughes, GM/Educator
SPSmedical, Rochester, NY

Certified as a NY State Health Education teacher, Chuck has worked over 25 years in the manufacturing industry in areas of Research & Development, Regulatory Affairs, Microbiology, Marketing and Sterilization Training. A corporate member of AAMI, AORN, APIC, CSA, IAHCSSM and OSAP; Chuck has extensive lecturing experience to medical device manufacturers and healthcare organizations worldwide. In 2004, he was awarded "Educator of the Year" by the Inland Empire Chapter of ASHCSP and in 2005 received the distinguished "Award of Honor" from IAHCSSM. In 2006, Chuck was inducted into the first-ever Who's Who in Infection Prevention issue of Infection Control Today, and in 2008 was selected to the Who's Who in the Ambulatory Surgery Industry. And in 2009, he received "Speaker of the Year" from the California Central Service Association. In the state where he resides, Chuck was instrumental in assisting in organizing the New York State Association for Central Service Professionals and has served on its Board of Directors since its inception. He has been a strong supporter of state mandatory certification and the sterile processing profession throughout the years.

OBJECTIVES

This program explains how sterilization requires systems approach involving facility design, personnel training and reprocessing procedures. Current AAMI standards and AORN recommended practices for sterilization of reusable medical devices are referenced. Each session of the program is presented in a slide/lecture format with discussion throughout regarding interpretation and rationale.

After viewing this program, participants will be able to...

- Identify best practices for preparation and transport of soiled items from Surgery,
- Explain best practices for reprocessing soiled items for reuse in CS/SPD, and
- Discuss best practices for quality assurance testing and storage of sterile items.
